Use an explicit CSS page break to separate the introduction from the working detail.

Open the PDF to inspect both pages.

The detail starts here.

1. Prepare

Collect the source data and identify the document sections.

2. Render

Keep the cover separate with a declared break after the section.

3. Review

Check both pages in the PDF before sharing the result.

The PDF contains two pages. The linked PNG and SVG show the first page.
